Candid

(kan-ded), n., 1. Relating to photography of subjects acting naturally or spontaneously. 2. A photograph which depicts an aspect of the Brooks community, thus illustrating the school's spirit, activity, uniqueness, etc.

OFFICE OF THE HEADMASTER

April 15, 1982

Dear Sixth Form:

Steve Mapel's meticulously accomplished editorship finds me writing this letter incongruously early, on April fifteenth. I'm not ready to say 'goodbye'.

Five days ago you danced from eight o'clock in the evening till four o'clock the next morning in our first annual Marathon Dance! In three days, 'Cherries on Fire' will run in the Boston Marathon. Last night, at dinner with the Heads of many of our league schools, I found that they had all heard how we held a crew practice, last week, right in the middle of the worst April blizzard in recorded history! Snow is still on the ground! Perhaps your class is setting new standards of stamina and determination in the face of great odds. Remember Ellen Davie's long odyssey, too.

As you graduate, the world watches and waits with baited breath for a peaceful resolution of Argentina's confrontation with Britain. Worldwide, the drums begin to beat with the quickening pulse of social and political revulsion at the ticking nuclear time bomb.

I hope you will be able to look back on your time at Brooks with pleasure and satisfaction. If some of our hopes and ideals have become yours too, and if you will champion these in a troubled world, our years together will have been worthwhile.

You have left your mark on us too. We have grown immensely fond of you and will miss you. You have our love and affectionate best wishes, always.

Sincerely,

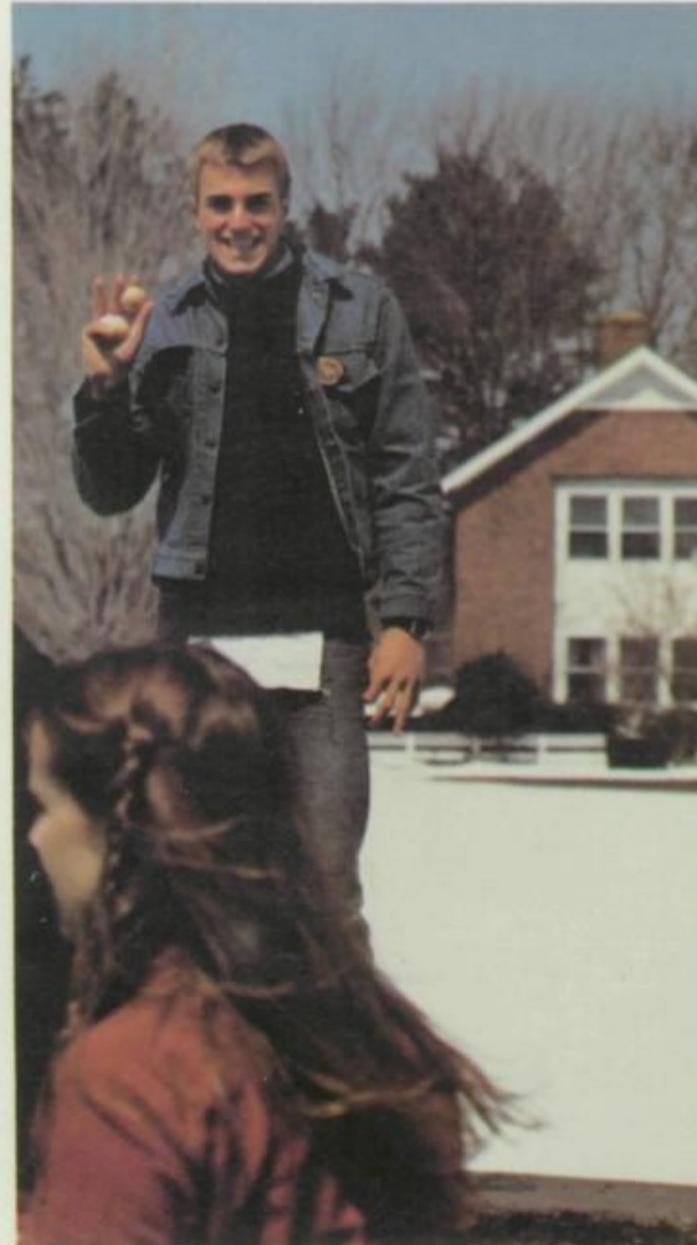

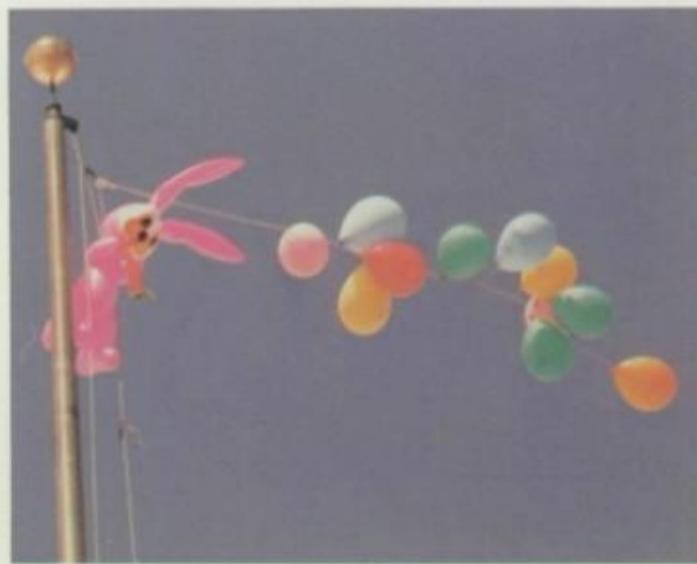

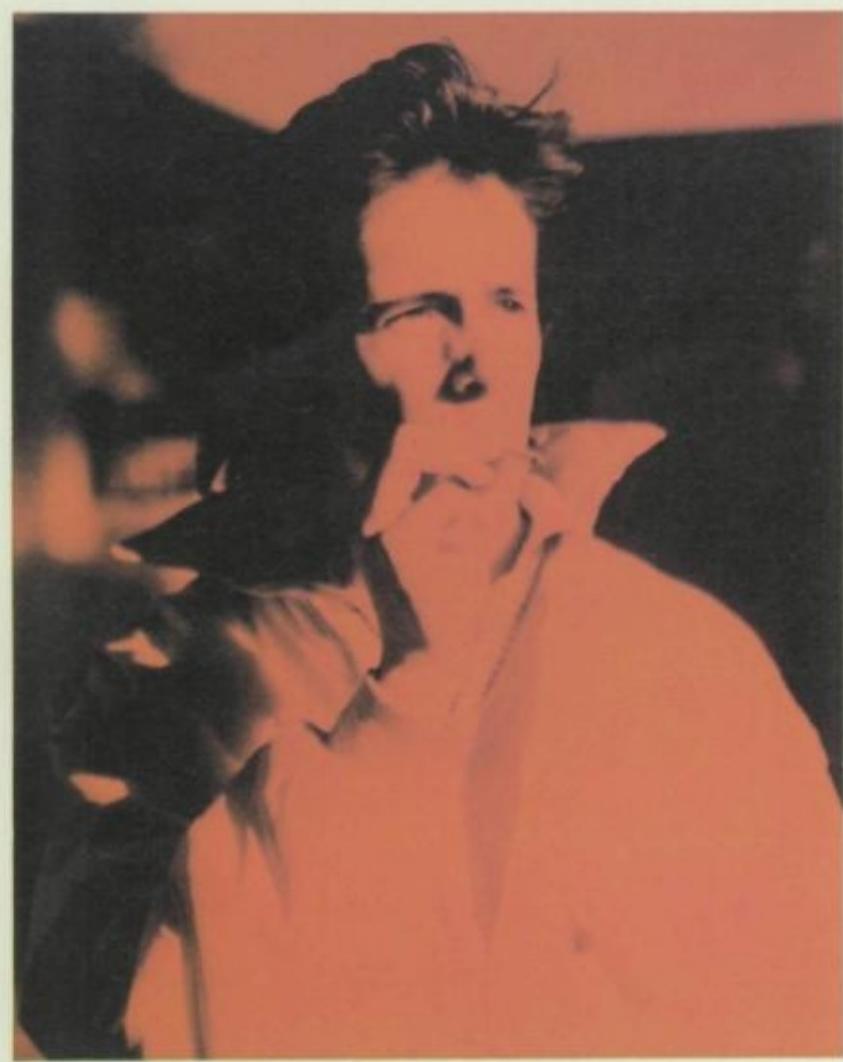

Pete Aitken

Dedication

(ded-i-ka-shen), n., 1. Self-sacrificing devotion. 2. A name and often a message prefixed to a literary or artistic production in tribute to a person or cause. 3. Yearbook Dedication: A graduating Sixth Form of 1982 who proudly dedicate their yearbook to Lawrence E. Tuttle and Gilbert J. Cromie. The commitment and lasting contributions of these two men have been priceless. Brooks fondly appreciates all that they have done and wishes them the best of luck in the future.

"There's a cowboy in the jungle
And he looks so out of place
With his shrimp skin boots and
His cheap cheroots
And his skin as white as paste.

. . . So he hands out with the sailors
Night and day they're raisin' hell
And his original destination's just Another story that he loves to tell.

. . . With no plans for the future
He still seems in control
From a bronco ride to a ten foot tide
He just had to learn to roll."

The secret of life is enjoying the passage of time, anyone can do it, there ain't nothing to it, nobody knows how we got to the top of the hill, but since we're on our way down we might as well enjoy the ride.

Those of you who think you know everything, are very annoying to those of us who do.

Love when you can,
cry when you have to,
be who you must,
that's a part of the plan,

WHAT I WANT OUT OF LIFE IS A GOOD TAN.

In and out of Peabody
Up and down a tree
Up a street, over a bump
Past the Irish apartment
Heeds the house of buffalo
A un sitio muy alto
Then to shimmering water on a moonlit night
Or country music, Ian and Kamikaze might Turns to the painted room of inspiration
Climbs white stairs in aspiration
And he finds not flesh, not flute, but Brooks.

I wish a buck was still silver
It was back when the country was strong
Back before Elvis and before the Vietnam War came along

Before the Beatles and Yesterday, when a man could still work and still would

Is the best of the free life behind us now?
Are the good times really over for good?
Are we rolling downhill like a snowball
headed for hell?

With no kind of chance for the Flag or
the Liberty Bell

I wish a Ford and a Chevy would still last ten years like they should

Is the best of the free life behind us now?
Are the good times really over for good?

I wish Coke was still Cola

And a joint was a bad place to be

Back before Nixon lied to us all on T.V.

Before microwave ovens, when a girl could still cook and still would

Is the best of the free life behind us now?
Are the good times really over for good?

Stop rolling downhill like a snowball
headed for hell

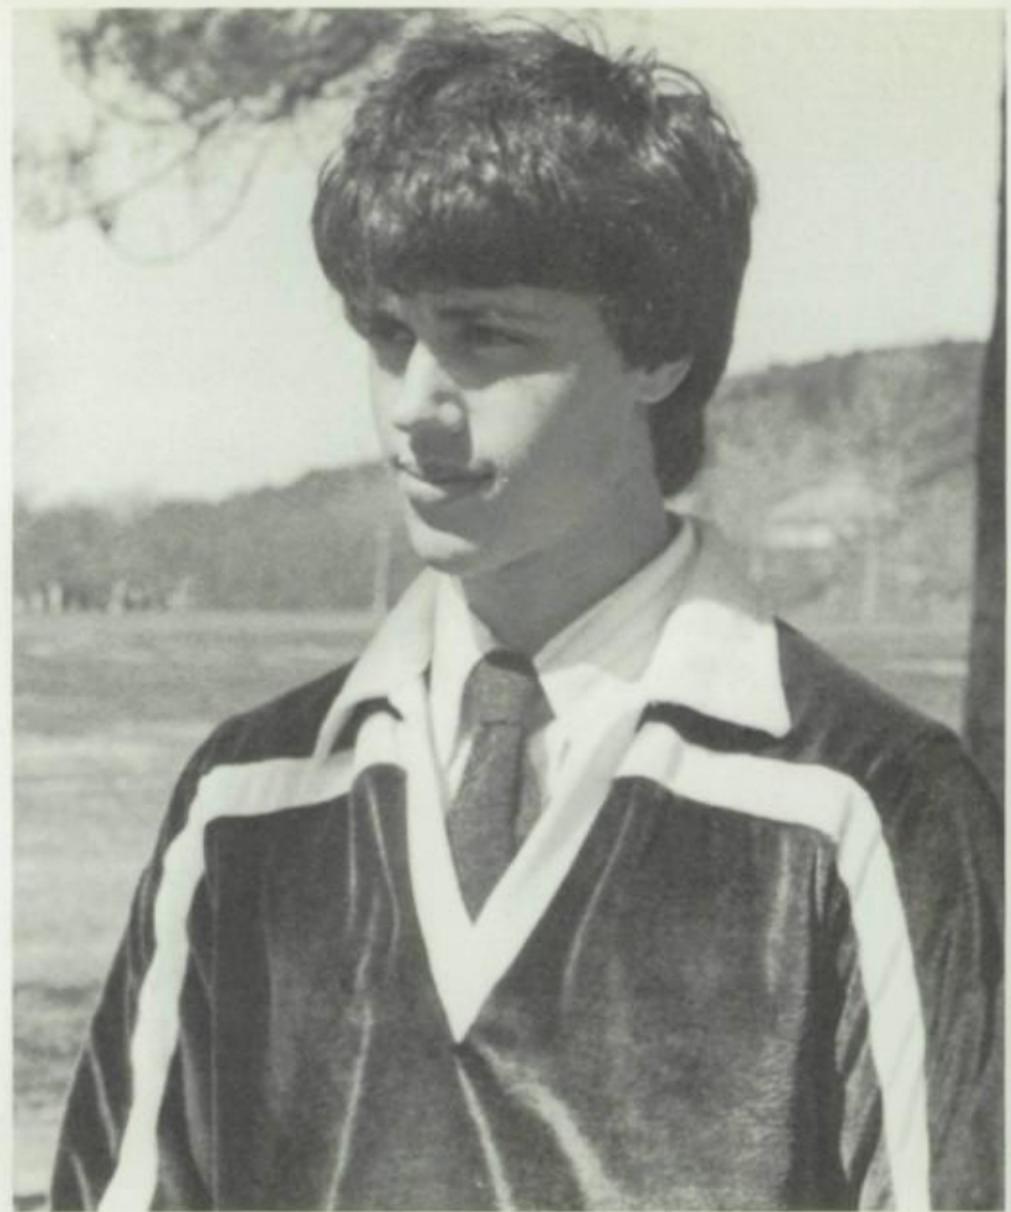

Stand up for the Flag and let's all ring
the Liberty Bell

Let's make a Ford and a Chevy that'll still last ten years like they should

The best of the free life is still yet to come

And the good times they ain't over for good.

ORDINARY PEOPLE

TO DAD:

THANKS:

- For you were there with advice when I needed it.
- And you were the one who spent these many hours practicing baseball or tennis with me.
- And you were there with support when I rode the bench.
- And thank you for taking the time to read with me those many books my third grade year.

TO MOM:

THANKS:

- For you were the one who took my worries away.
- And you were the one who read through me.
- And you were so patient with me my senior year.
- And you were the one to whom I cried.
- Thanks for being there that November Sunday
- Thanks for being the Mom you are.

*P. Eric Robb
Concord, Mass.
Occidental College*

To Bill Dunnell:

In growing I found I needed the help of others. I hope one day I am able to help you the way you helped me. Remember — Thumbs Up!

To Scott Robb:

Who made the first year at Brooks the best year of my life, and for being a person I can look up to and respect. You're The Best!

To "Sis" Amy:

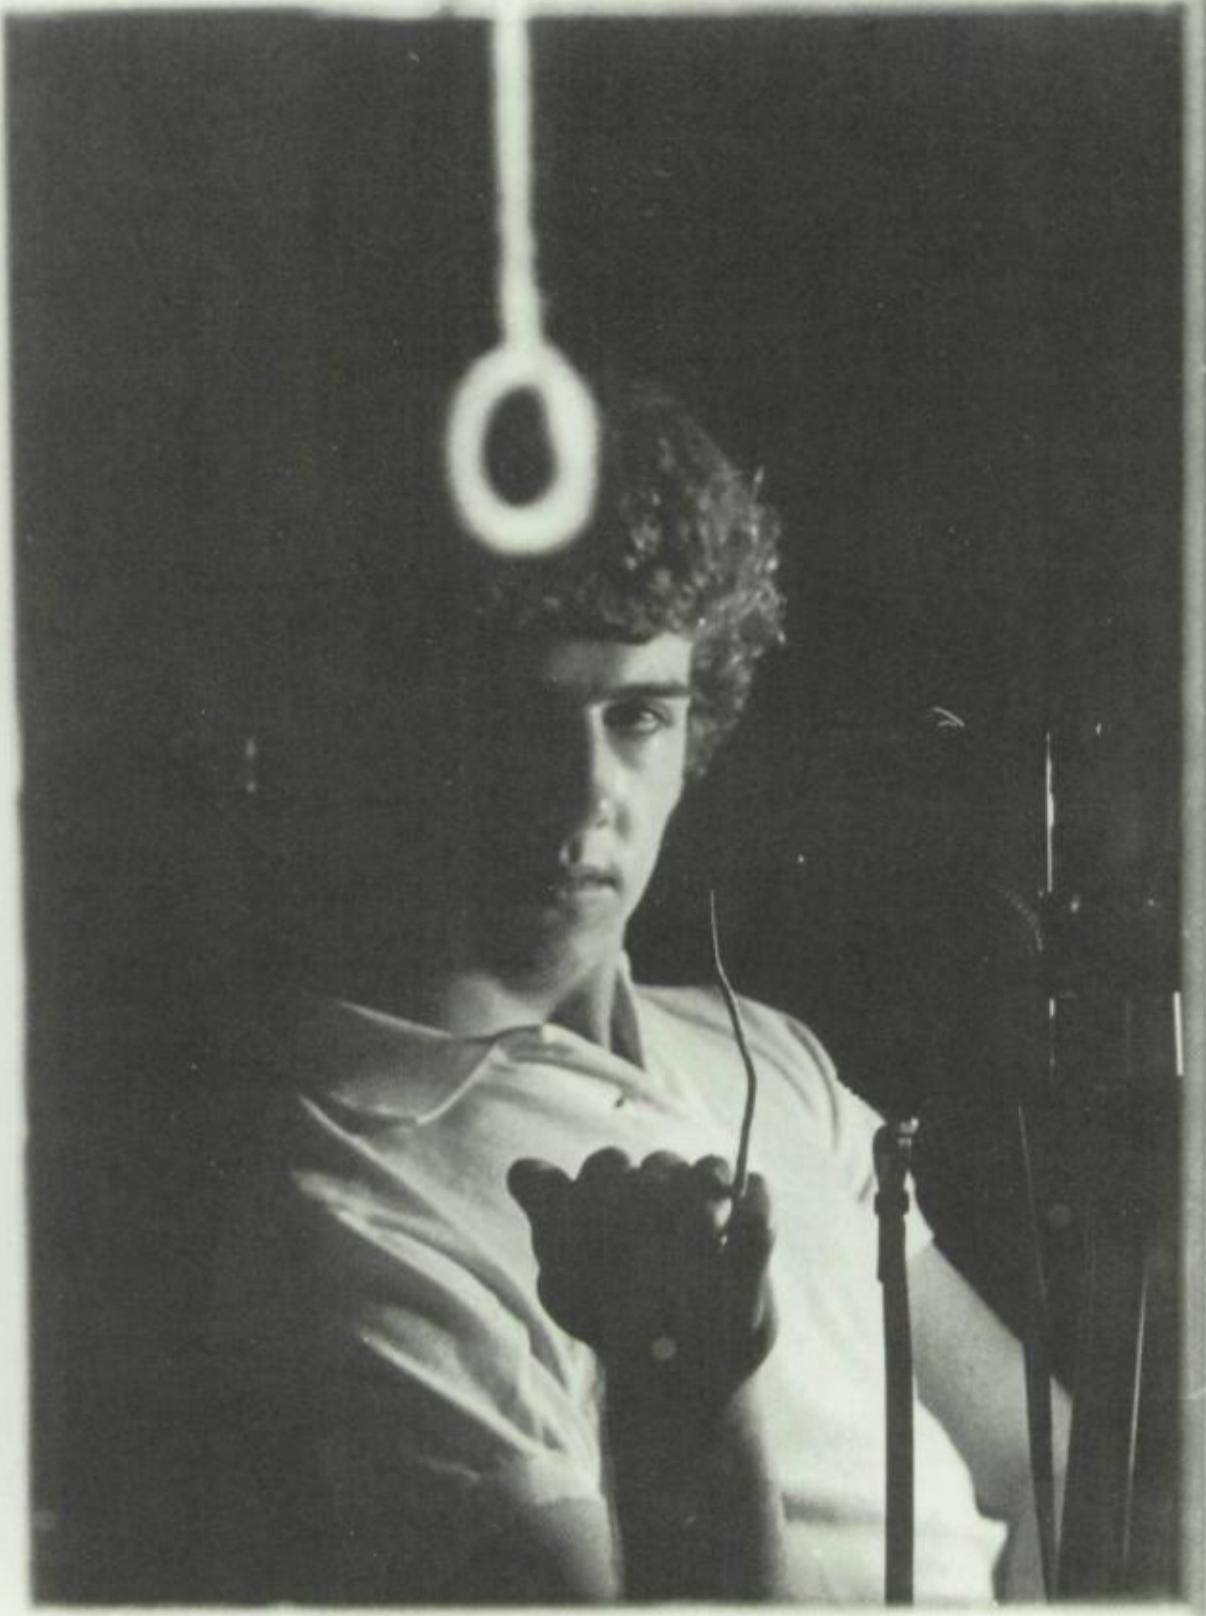

Thanks for being such a close part of my life my senior year. We have something very special. You're a wonderful sister.

To Ian Robb:

You're "the cream of the crop," and you've done a heck of a job. I'll stand by you every step of the way, because I know you would do the same for me.

To Tony Harris:

Thanks for being such a bright part of my life when I most needed it.

Thanks, and much love, Mom and Dad — for everything you taught me; for making my dreams come true.

Roads go ever, ever on, over rock and under tree, by caves where never sun has shone, by streams that never find the sea; over snows by winter sown, and through the merry flowers of June, over grass and over stone, and under mountains in the moon.

Roads go ever, ever on, under cloud and under star, yet feet that wondering have gone, turn at last to home afar. Eyes that fire and sword have seen and horror in the halls of stone look at last on meadows green and trees and hills they long have known.

— The Hobbit

I'll always remember: First girls, Killington'81, the gang (Mike, Pete, Stu, Sau, Fred, Bob, and Joe), Vermont weekends, Carpie, St. George's #18, Bob's party — I got my man, Cindy — we've been through a lot, Michelle — see you at U.V.M., S.J.G., Lisa — hungry, Amy W. — late nights, Riunite, Kathie — a definite party, a toast to the taxi drivers, girls' basketball, the common room, the key, first floor windows, Harold, the step, Jen B., Julie M., Anne S., Meredith and Kimberly, Dierdre-? and Kerri — I'll never forget you.

Year 12

Alen's work this year was representative of his attitude in class: never hiding the course sincerely, always taking the opportunity to discuss with a pole, ridiculous, complaining, poor quality, well, what a disappointing change in the final student of his year up! This behavior coupled with his natural leadership qualities set an excellent example for the class.

I guess there are two ways to judge time spent somewhere, the quantity of time spent and the quality of that time. I'd really like to thank those people without whom I would have had neither — M.W.M., Andrea, Eric, M.B.K., Jim C., Clara, Lissi and Jane. I'd also like to thank Marie, Jenny, Leelee, Margie, Sharpe, Gardner, Martha, Lisa, Mel and Wendy for making it fun. Keep in touch. I'd also like to thank (even though he'll never see this) — Jerry G., whose music helped me through.

The teachings of the east have always been admired by the West. Perhaps because they are timeless do these teachings appear so timely.

"Then said a teacher, Speak to us of Teaching.

And he said:

No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your knowledge."
